다음을 듣고, 남자가 하는 말의 목적으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

M: Hello, Edmond High School students! I'm the librarian, Norman Smith. As you know, the school library renovation started last month and the library was supposed to reopen by the end of this month. However, making wider reading spaces is taking longer than expected because of some problems with the walls. Therefore, the library reopening will be delayed for a few more days. I'll let you know the date of the reopening as soon as it's decided. Please wait a little more until the library opens again. Thank you for your patience.

대화를 듣고, 여자의 의견으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

W: Brian, you look worried. What's the matter?

M: Mom, I'm trying to make plans for vacation, but it's not easy. Could you take a look?

W: Sure. [Pause] Hmm, I think you put too many things in your plan.

M: I know, but there are so many things to do.

W: I understand, but you can't do them all in a limited time.

M: Then can you give me some advice?

W: Okay. First, make a list of things to do and then put them in order according to how important they are.

M: You're saying I need to consider their importance first.

W: Right. That way, you'll be able to decide what to include in your plan and what to skip.

M: I understand what you mean.

W: When making a vacation plan, you should consider the importance of the things you want to include.

M: That makes sense. Thanks for the tip, Mom.

대화를 듣고, 두 사람의 관계를 가장 잘 나타낸 것을 고르시오.

M: Welcome. How may I help you?

W: Hi, I'm here to pick up the car that I reserved, but I wonder if I could make a change.

M: Can I have your driver's license, please?

W: Sure, here it is.

M: Okay. [Typing sounds] You reserved a small car for three days.

W: Yes. But can I change the car size from small to medium?

M: Let me check. [Typing sounds] Oh, there's only one medium car you can rent.

W: That's lucky! I'll take it.

M: Okay. By the way, you chose partial car insurance. But for an additional $20, you can have full coverage.

W: That's a great deal.

M: Right. Since you changed the size of the car and upgraded the car insurance, the additional fee is $50.

W: Okay. Here's my credit card.

M: Thank you. I'll take you to the car.

W: All right. Thanks.

M: Wow, it looks great. There's a bookshelf full of books.

W: Yes. Lisa said she has a variety of genres of books.

M: Great. Look! There's a ladder leaning against the wall. That must be for the books on the upper shelf.

W: Right. Also, there are round tables.

M: Yes. Visitors can read books while drinking coffee there.

W: Oh, did you notice the two flower pots under the clock?

M: Yeah, those must be the gifts you sent Lisa for the grand opening. They look nice.

W: I'm glad that they go so well with the cafe.

M: What's that poster on the wall? It says "Book of the Month."

W: Lisa said she's going to introduce a popular book on that poster every month.

M: That's great. Why don't we go to this cafe together?

W: Good! Let's go this weekend.

M: Oh, really? Did you prepare everything you need?

W: I'm still packing. Is there anything you think I really need?

M: Sure. Mosquito spray. There are a lot of mosquitoes these days.

W: Oh, I should bring some. And I'm going to have a barbecue. What do I need for that?

M: Don't worry. You can rent everything related to barbecuing there.

W: That's wonderful.

M: And I recommend a portable speaker if you want to listen to music while barbecuing.

W: Oh, really? I'd like to join that class. When is it?

M: This Saturday, from 1 to 3 p.m. Let's do it together.

W: This Saturday? I'm afraid I can't, then.

M: Why? Are you still taking swimming lessons on Saturdays?

W: That's amazing. We can enjoy the concert and help the children as well.

M: You're right. Let's hurry to buy the tickets.

W: Okay. [Pause] Wait! It says ticket sales start on December 10th.

W: That would be great.

M: I think it's too much for you to spend over $100.

W: I agree. Oh, there are different scents to choose from. How about the floral scent?

M: She already has a floral perfume. I think you'd better pick one she doesn't have.

W: Good idea. Now, let's decide the size.

M: She usually carries perfume in her bag, so a portable size would be good.

W: Then, 50 ml would be a little big to carry.

M: Right. Oh, they come with a free gift.

W: I think Mom would like a pouch more than a hand mirror.

M: Yeah, she has a couple of hand mirrors.

W: Then, I'll order this one. Thanks, Dad.

W: Wow, then there's very little to throw away!

M: Yeah. I'm trying to reduce packaging waste in my daily life.

W: Great. I know the packaging waste problem is getting worse.

M: You can say that again. Zero-waste shops recycle packaging waste to create new products.

W: Then, we can get new things and reduce waste at the same time.

M: Yes. By shopping at zero-waste shops, we can save the environment.

W: I'd like to join you, but I don't know where the zero-waste shops are around us.

다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

W: Hello, students. Last class, we talked about the differences between stars and planets. Today, I'm going to tell you how the planets in the solar system got their names. First, Mercury is named after the Roman god of travel who moved quickly delivering messages to other gods. Mercury also moves rapidly around the sun and that's how this planet got its name. Second, Jupiter is the largest planet in the solar system. Because of its size, it makes sense why ancient Romans named it after their most powerful god, the god of the sky. Third, Mars has a reddish color which reminded ancient Romans of blood. Therefore, Mars got its name from the god of war who caused many battles and many people's deaths. Lastly, Neptune is named for the Roman god of the sea. Since the beautiful blue color of the planet looks like the sea, the name is an excellent choice. Isn't it interesting? Now, let's move on to who first discovered these planets. I'll show you a video.
