W: Hmm... Well, remembering words is really hard. I forget them quickly.

M: I see. How about saying the words out loud? It can be an effective way to remember them.

W: Does it really help? I feel more comfortable just memorizing quietly.

M: When you speak out loud, you use different parts of your brain, and that helps you remember words better.

W: But I always thought saying words out loud would make it harder to focus.

M: Not at all. Studies show that it can help you stay more focused on the task.
