And it's open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. I'll be there to help you with anything you need like medicine or some treatment. W: Yeah, but I spent it all. I feel like I never have enough money.

M: Have you tried writing down where you spend your money?

W: No, I haven't. Do you think writing it down is helpful?

M: Totally. Once you see where your money goes, you'll be more careful with it.

Actually, many people want to know the answer. The most important way to build good relationships is to show that you're listening. As you know, communication works two ways. It's not just about speaking, but also about paying attention to what others are saying. You have to try to understand and show that you really care. It can be challenging at first. But the more carefully you listen, the better your relationships will be. Now, let's hear a few stories and tips from our listeners.

M: The lights above the screen are perfect. They really set the mood.

W: You're right about that.

M: I'm sure your kids liked the lights.

W: They did. I also put some popcorn on the table for their snacks.

M: That's very sweet. Oh, you used the heart-shaped picnic mat I gave you!

M: Certainly. These are our gift bags. We can also make special ones for you, if you'd like.

W: Awesome. Is it possible to put my grandma's picture on this bag?

M: Sure. That would be $2 for each bag with a picture.

W: Great. Then, I'll take 30.

M: It's free for everyone. We just need to sign up for it.

W: Great. I wonder how we do that.

M: We can just scan the QR code on the poster and register our names.

W: Right! An oversized bag will be uncomfortable to handle.

M: Exactly. And I don't want to spend more than $140 on a travel bag.

W: I agree. We'll need a lot of money when traveling. What about the choice of materials?

M: Oh, there are only two kinds available! Which one do you prefer?

W: I think the plastic one will be better. Fabrics can get dirty easily.

M: Ben and Amy are in the same environmental club in high school. They are doing an environmental campaign project and discussing ideas together. Ben sees that students sometimes throw away trash without recycling. So he wants to encourage them to recycle all the time. Meanwhile, Amy feels that asking students to reduce food waste is also a good idea because she notices a lot of leftovers in the school cafeteria. Ben thinks that both ideas will certainly help students to think more about the environment. So he wants to suggest that they include both ideas in their project. In this situation, what would Ben most likely say to Amy?

[16~17] 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

W: Hello, students! In our last lesson, we learned how animals use their senses to find food. Today, we'll talk about ways some animals defend themselves from enemies. First, one of the most well-known of these animals is the skunk. Skunks spray a bad-smelling liquid to keep enemies away. Skunk spray does not cause any lasting damage, though its smell is hard to remove. Second, chameleons change the color of their skin to match their surroundings, making them hard to spot. That's one clever way to hide from their enemies! Next, we have frogs. By making themselves look bigger, they appear more threatening. Another animal that uses its body for survival is the lizard. Interestingly, lizards can cut off their own tails to escape. But don't worry — the tail eventually grows back! So far, we've looked at animals' defense strategies. In our next lesson, we'll cover plants that have similar ways to protect themselves.
